REAR OF I. & C. CARInterurban Freight Hits Stalled Passenger at Second Stop West of Connersville.

MOTORMAN BURTON JUMPS

Four Passengers Scramble Off Before Impact And Others Are Unhurt—Little Damage.

An Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction company freight car, east-bound, due out of the car barns here shortly before six o'clock, this morning at six-fifteen o'clock, crashed into the rear end of passenger No. 50, leaving here at 5:45 o'clock and due at Connersville at 6:15 o'clock, at the second stop west of Connersville, but very little damage was done.

Most of the seven passengers managed to scramble off before the crash came. Three people, a woman and two men, are reported to have remained on the car, but they fled to the front and were not injured.

Charles Burton, motorman on the freight car, saved himself from probable instant death or serious injury by leaping just before the impact. Roy Readle, freight conductor, stayed with the car and was rolled from the back end to the front by the collision, but he was not hurt.

E. O. Arbuckle, the passenger conductor, was back five and a half pole lengths from his car, which was in trouble, to flag the freight, but the motorman could not stop his car in time to avoid the crash. Charles Brooks of Glenwood was the motorman on the passenger.

The passenger was due in Connersville at the time of the accident. It has been delayed at the stop known as Osage, a short distance out of Connersville by trouble which accounts for the smash-up.

The accident happened on the same curve where a passenger and freight car collided head-on a few years ago and caused the death of Carl Hunt, the freight motorman.

The freight car rounded the bend and Motorman Burton saw the flagman and the passenger car in the distance at the same time. He applied the emergency brake and shouted to Conductor Readle to jump if he expected to save his life.

When the motorman had the brakes all set, he acted on his own advice and leaped out the car door. This probably saved him from death or serious injury, because the crash was hard enough to cave in the front end of the freight car and damage the back vestibule of the passenger car considerably.

Conductor Readle took a change and stayed on the car. He felt the brakes taking hold and knew that if the freight did hit the passenger, the jolt would not be bad enough to cause any very serious damage. He was right in his surmise, only the impact was forcible enough to roll him from the back end of the car up under the stove in the front end.

The wet tracks hindered the working of the brakes and kept the car from stopping as quickly as if the tracks had been dry.

The freight car was carrying a light load else the damage might have been greater. It is not likely that any passengers would have been killed under an circumstances because the three that remained on had time to get to the front end of the car before the crash.

Traffic between here and Connersville was resumed by noon. East-bound cars were held at the car barns here and sent back to Indianapolis, and in this manner the regular schedule between here and Indianapolis was maintained.

GLOOM IS CAST
OVER HIS EASTERFather Michael Lyons Hears of Mother's Death Between First
And Second Mass.

HE IS SWAYED BY EMOTIONS

Between the first and second mass at the Catholic church yesterday, the joy of Eastertide was broken for the Rev. Michael Lyons by the receipt of the news of the death of his mother, Mrs. Bridget Lyons, who lived at 2135 North Pennsylvania street, Indianapolis.

Father Lyons preached as usual during first mass. At the beginning of second mass he announced that there would be no afternoon services, although it was Easter, because he had received word—he proceeded no further. Tears gushed to his eyes, his voice faltered and he did not attempt to explain. A sympathetic congregation understood. Members of the church knew his mother had been critically ill, and they needed no explanation.

Father Lyons left directly after dinner for Indianapolis and will not return until after the funeral which will be held at St. Peter and Paul cathedral, Indianapolis, at nine o'clock Wednesday morning. Mrs. Lyons was born in Tipperary county, Ireland, and came to the United States when a young woman.

cumbs at Her Home Sunday Night.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY MORNING

Mrs. Matthew Dewester, age sixty-five years, died at her home two miles south of Manilla last night at eight o'clock of cancer. She has been suffering with the dread disease for a year, and several weeks ago she underwent an operation, which served to stop the ravages of the disease for a time.

She had been married twice and is survived by the following children from the first marriage: Lee Holmes of Manilla, Mrs. Sam Coers and Mrs. Frank Gaheimer living a short distance south of Manilla. Four step-children are left, Mrs. William Coers of south of Manilla, Mrs. Estel Baker of Manilla, Mrs. John Jordan of Terre Haute and Oscar Dewester who lived at home. Her husband also survives.

The funeral will be held at the residence Wednesday morning at ten o'clock and burial will be made in the St. Paul cemetery. W. R. Jinnett will officiate.

TO DECIDE IF LAW
WILL BE APPLIEDCounty School Officials And Farmers Will Confer Over New Vocational Law.

AT REGULAR APRIL MEETING

Will Discuss Clause Authorizing Employment of County Agent—$500 Deposit is Necessary.

Present plans of C. M. George, county board of education, are to test the sentiment of the farmers of Rush county to see if they are ready for the application of the vocational educational law, which the last legislature passed.

Some practical and influential farmers will be invited to meet with the county board of education and the county superintendent at the regular meeting the first Monday in April when the new law will be studied and some definite arrangements to take advantage of it may be made.

Section twelve of the law leaves it to the option of the farmers of the county whether a county agent shall be employed, and it is this subject that will be discussed at the proposed conference between farmers and the county school authorities.

The first thirty counties to make a bid for a county agent will be allowed to have state aid, which is payment of half of the county agent's annual salary. Only thirty counties will be given this help until September 30, 1914. During the next year thirty more counties will be assisted if they comply with the other provisions of the law. The next year will take in all of the counties of the State. Rush county school authorities are anxious to get in with the first thirty counties if the citizens favor the law.

Section twelve provides that "whenever twenty or more residents of a county, who are actively interested in agriculture, shall file a petition with the county board of education for a county agent, together with a deposit of $500 to be used in defraying expenses of such agent, the county board of education shall file such petition, within thirty days of its receipt, with the county council, which body shall, upon receipt of such petition, appropriate annually the sum of $1,500 to be used in paying the salary and other expenses of the county agent."

The five hundred dollars never gets back to the men who deposit it, but is used in paying the first expenses of the agent. When asked why the legislators made such a provision as that, County Superintendent George replied that it was included in the law as an evidence of good faith on the part of the community. He said that if such a provision were not in the law, any twenty farmers could petition for a county agent without due consideration. When they have to spend $500, he said, they study the law and think it worth the money before they invest.

"When the county appropriation has been made," this section continues, "the county board of education shall apply to Purdue university for the appointment of a county agent whose appointment shall be made annually and be subject to the approval of the county board of education and the state board of education. When such appointment has been made, there shall be paid annually from the state fund provided for in this act, to Purdue university, to be paid to the county providing for a county agent, an amount sufficient

COMBINATION
WAS TOO MUCHWhat Could be Expected of an Easter on 23d Day in Year Ending
With 13?

THAT'S IT-SURE-WHAT COULD?

That All-Dressed-up-With-No-Place
To-Go Feeling Was There—
Huh!

There is some consolation in the fact that another Sunday follows Easter in just seven days, because the Easter paraders did not get out yesterday with their gladsome togs, but there's an old adage which has it that if rain falls on Easter, it will do likewise on seven successive Sundays. And the worse feature of that adage is that it seldom fails.

The "weather" started in some time Saturday night to make it disagreeable for the Easter hopefuls and never let up until today. Rain fell in torrents most of the morning and the wind howled miserably and mournfully.

The afternoon was threatening. Rushville just barely missed a half dozen ominous clouds. But some few people braved the sinister skies and appeared on the streets in their spring togs.

It wouldn't have been so depressing, the gloom wouldn't have been so thick and all-dressed-up-with-no-place-to-go feeling wouldn't have been so noticeable if—well, if the people had some little hint of warning—some little note that the weather forecast might not be just what it seemed.

"A golden sun, undimmed in a cloudless sky, will shine upon the blush and bloom of the Easter parade in the greater part of the county," is the way the weather bureau put it. Naturally we all thought we were the "greater part of the county." "In the middle west and Rocky mountain country the weather will not be only fair, but warmer." That was the last word in Easter predictions.

That sorta clinched the thing. That left no doubt as to what the weather really would be. Rain? Pshaw! Perish the thought! Hearts were all a flutter and hopes ran high yesterday morning—until the curtain was drawn on the most miserable Sunday of 1913. But consider the year—1913. And it was the twenty-third day of the month, too!

The whole thing came about because of that mysterious and seemingly ununderstandable thing called the equinox, accord to the weather bureau. The official explanation of the downpour that came where sunlight should have been was that an uncontrollable low pressure area that was way beyond the Rocky Mountains Saturday jumped right over the highest peaks and landed plunk in the Mississippi Valley. Verne M. Church, section director at Indianapolis, said that the weather bureau could not be at all certain about weather conditions along about the equinoctial period, and that its best calculations sometimes went awry.

Whether the mixup was a calamity of vengeance due in some way to the resignation Saturday of Willis L. Moore, chief of the bureau, caused some conjecture. The weather has become pretty much accustomed to the guiding hand of Chief Moore. Then there was a suggestion that the bureau computers might have forgotten to take into consideration a northwest wind at Medicine Hat. Another was that the bureau never will be able to figure out weather conditions for Rushville until official cognizance is taken of the evaporation of Hodge's Branch

WILL BE OUT IN TEN DAYS

Russell Hays is Improving Better Than Was Expected.

Prosecuting Attorney Evans and Sheriff Kirk have returned from a visit to Knightstown, where they went to investigate the condition of Russell Hays, who was shot Monday night by Al C. Varner, the Newcastle Courier says. They found Hays in a better condition than they thought from the reports received. It is thought that he will be able to be out in about ten days. Physicians do not think it will be necessary to remove the bullet. Varner is still in jail, as no bond has been put up for his release.

TOOK SIX HOURS
TO DECIDE CASEJury Out Long Time And Finally Awarded Plaintiff $100 and Attorney Fees.

ANOTHER SUIT COMPROMISED

The jury in the case of Cary Jackson, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Amelia J. Powell, deceased, against Robert Powell on a note, demanding $425, found for the plaintiff in the sum of $100 and gave him $25 attorney fees. The jury was out about six hours and returned the verdict about eight o'clock Saturday night. The case was heard before special judge Wallace Morgan and occupied two days in the circuit court.

The note which the plaintiff alleged was unpaid was made in 1891 and the interest paid until 1895. The note was for $175 at eight per cent. interest. The jury was out for so long that it was at first thought they would not agree.

The case of John Jackman against James Brown for damages, demanding $100, which was to have been tried before a jury today was compromised and dismissed at the costs of the defendant. The damage suit of Arvel Herkless against the Rushville Milling company was continued on motion of the defendant. The case of the State of Indiana on the relation of the board of commissioners against James Pierce and the Bankers Surety company, on a contract, demanding $3300 was sent to Hancock county on a change of venue.

Athalia Lewark filed a general denial to the complaint of Mary Abrams for $5000 damages.

IS ALMOST A HABIT.

Turning in false alarms has evidently become a habit with someone and has long since ceased to be a joke with the fire department. The one last night was turned in from the box at Morgan and Ninth streets.

WIND DOES DAMAGE.

The strong wind yesterday did considerable damage in Raleigh and vicinity. Several corn cribs, fences and telephone poles were blown over. The chimney at the home of Michael Coyne was blown off but no one was hurt. The wind did very little damage in other sections of the county.

BOY SCOUTS BEGIN TASK.

The Boy Scouts of Shelbyville have determined on a task that will be of benefit to the people of Shelbyville. They have announced they will collect and sell old paper to start a fund for a city hospital. Charles Spiegel of Shelbyville has offered to help them if they will make the effort.

MOISTURE FIXES
EARTH FOR PLOWFarmers Ready to Begin Spring Task
in Earnest When Fields Dry
a Little.

GROUND TOO DRY LAST WEEK

Most Corn Growers Have Seed Tested
in Preparation For Planting—Methods Revolutionized.

Last week Rush county farmers hauled out and dusted off their plows to begin the spring task, and after a few furrows were turned, many of them decided the ground was too dry. The result is that very little spring plowing has been done.

This morning they had no similar complaint. The heavy, beating rains of the last three days have softened the ground so that it was impossible to go into the fields with plows today. A few hours of sunshine was expected to be enough to dry the surface so that breaking could be done in earnest.

Most of the farmers of the county have their seed corn already selected and tested. This testing process, which was rare only a few years ago, is now the rule. It is the judgment of the present-day corn grower that he can no more afford to plant untested corn than he could afford to buy corn, at market prices, without having seen it or having received a guarantee as to whether it is good or bad.

The best time to grade seed corn is before shelling. The office of corn investigations of the U. S. Department of agriculture proved by careful field experiments that an ear having kernels of undesirable shapes produces ears most of which have kernels of undesirable shapes. All ears that are undesirable for one reason

Look Into the World's Mirror
Every Day

Have you stopped to think of your daily newspaper as the World's Mirror? Every time you look into your newspaper you see reflected the doings and happenings of the earth.

Not long ago you read a word picture of the Antarctic regions, of the South Pole, of the experiences encountered by a band of brave and noble explorers. Recently you have had a glimpse into the Orient brought about by the Balkan war. You know a great deal about Mexico and her civil troubles. Today you are reading with keen interest the proposed tariff changes which may raise or lower your cost of living.

All these things are of great interest, but the thing that has to do with your cost of living is most important. One of these things is the advertising which appears in THE DAILY REPUBLICAN every day. By reading the advertisements closely and constantly you will know where to buy and what to buy at the lowest prices. When you look into the World's Mirror, don't overlook the opportunities to economize.

READING DREAMS TO CURE INSANE

Unique System of Healing
Tried In New York.

INTERPRET QUEER VISIONS.

Sufferers at Ward's Island and Other Points Now Receiving Strange Treatment—They Are Told Real Cause of Trouble, and Ills Then Vanish, According to Report.

New York is experimenting at Ward's island with the Freud system of curing the insane, and the treatment will be extended to the asylums at Kings Park and Central Islip, N. Y., and to other institutions if the experience justifies. There are at present more than 20,000 cases of insanity under observation and treatment within 100 miles of New York city.

The experiments are under the direction of Dr. August Hoch, and they are being carried on in the Psychiatric Institute. Only selected cases, mostly of the neurasthenic types, are admitted.

The so called Freud system was originated by Professor Freud of the University of Vienna. He was in this country in 1910, when he delivered a course of lectures at Clark university, Worcester, Mass. His system, it is said, is limited to neuropathic or neurasthenic patients. The method is called "psychoanalysis."

The usual course of treatment is as follows: The patient lies on his back on a lounge, the physician sitting behind his head. In this way, according to a recent article by Dr. A. A. Brill, chief assistant of psychiatry at Columbia university, the patient remains free from all external influences and impressions. The main object is to avoid all muscular exertion and distraction, thus allowing thorough concentration of attention on his psychic activities.

Patient Questioned.

The patient is then asked to give a detailed account of his troubles, having been urged before this to tell everything that comes into his mind, even things that may cause embarrassment or mortification. In listening to such a history the doctor is apt to notice many gaps of memory both as to time and casual relations. The patient is then asked to fill in those gaps by concentration of attention, but the unintentional thoughts which originate in that connection are pushed back with the greatest resistance, and when the actual recollection comes back it is accompanied by distinct pain or discomfort.

During the treatment the doctor or operator has to "interpret" for symbolic action mistakes in speech, etc., by the patient, and the chief task of the operator is in interpreting or "reading" dreams, inasmuch as dreams, according to Professor Freud, give the most direct access to the unconscious. This interpretation of the patient's dream will overcome the patient's resistance and will "give the unconscious access to the conscious."

Dream Analyzers Needed.

Not only are expert dream analyzers and thought searchers required for the successful application of Professor Freud's ideas, but the process is a long one, requiring from six months to three years. But cures have been effected in the most refractory cases. The Freud enthusiasts say it is the best treatment for all chronic cases of "psycho-neuroses," such as obsessions and hysterias in which physical disturbances are present.

Hysterical symptoms, according to Freud, come out of the intentional repressing out of consciousness the memory of a painful experience. Though in time this painful experience may be forgotten, some slight event is likely to recall the pain or the emotion, even while its cause remains subconscious.

In hysterically predisposed patients this awakening of emotion causes hysterical symptoms, though the patient does not recall the painful experience.

It has been found, according to Freud and his disciples, that when the operation succeeds in thoroughly awakening in the patient the memories connected with the first appearance of the symptoms and shows the patient the cause of them, then, if the patient has given full expression to his emotion, the symptoms disappear without returning.

It is all up to the patient. If he co-operates he may be cured of his hysteria or his obsession. He must be in his normal state—that is, he must be able to answer questions and to realize what the operator seeks. There is in ordinary cases no hypnosis, no "passes" nor suggestions, no laying on of hands nor other such performances.

Controlled by Dreams.

Dreams, so the Freud school of alienists aver, are divided into three classes—first, those in which the wish is fulfilled; second, those which represent a repressed wish as concealed and, third, those which represent a repressed but not sufficiently hidden wish, so that, though human beings regard themselves as free agents, they are actually "bossed" by their dreams.

But, while the ordinary neurotics are treated in the Freud system while in a normal state, hypnosis is fully recognized as an adjunct and is often resorted to.

Ships with smaller outfits can communicate with those carrying strong batteries, and these will report to New York or via the Arlington station.

INDIANA IS HARD HIT IN FIERCE GALE

Terre Haute Swept By Cyclone.

MANY PERSONS KILLED

List of Injured In Easter Tor- nado Totals Scores.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS HEAVY

Wide Swath Cut Through Lower Part of City By Storm.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 24.—Shortly before midnight last night one of the most destructive and death-dealing cyclones in the history of Indiana descended upon this city, and in the wake of the whirling storm there was left an appalling scene of death and devastation. In the path of the wind's furious onslaught there was left scarcely one timber upon another, the homes of the luckless and sleeping inhabitants being tumbled about their ears like so many card houses.

From this awful mass of wreckage there arose above the howl of the storm the cries of the terror-stricken dwellers, while the moans of the dying accentuated in the minds of the rescuers the horror of the situation. The dead were placed at one side while attention was being concentrated upon saving the living planned beneath the wreckage of their tumbled homes. Fires which broke out here and there amid the ruins gave a weird light to the scene of horror.

The Toll of the Storm.

Seven known dead, at least as many more believed to be dead and buried in ruins, scores injured, many of them fatally, and severe loss of property, is the toll of the tornado, which spent its force in the southern part of the city.

Seven bodies have been recovered. Rescuers say they are confident several more are in the ruins, but they are unable to reach them.

Men, women and children were caught in their beds and crushed to death. Others were injured before they could escape or while they were seeking safety in their cellars or in the streets.

City Was in Darkness.

All wires were blown down in the district affected. This not only put the section in darkness, but rendered the work of the rescuers extremely hazardous, as they were in constant danger from live wires.

Every available fireman, policeman and physician in the city was called out and rushed to the scene. Fire was caused in many ruined structures, either by crossed wires, lightning or overturned stoves.

The maze of broken wires and mass of wreckage proved a heavy handicap to the rescuers. Lightning set fire to many houses. The firemen were unable to cope with the situation. A heavy downpour of rain which kept up was all that prevented many of the injured from being burned in the ruins of their homes.

Taken to Hospital.

As fast as the injured could be removed they were hurried to hospitals where every available space had been cleared for their reception.

Whole structures were blown away, frame, brick and stone alike.

Parts of the Root glass factory were flattened by the wind and the ruins caught fire from the lightning. The firemen were unable to do anything here because of the wires and wreckage.

The end of the foundry room of the Garland factory was crushed like an eggshell. It was of solid brick, eighteen inches thick.

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction company at 1 o'clock this morning reported heavy losses in the region of Terre Haute. Trolley wires were reported torn down and all telephone dispatching service was stopped when the telephone wires went down. The storm caused great havoc in sections between Terre Haute and Greencastle. Heavy damage is reported at Brazil.

Charged With His Murder.

obtained from any part of Iowa or Nebraska.

From a roundabout source came a story to the local Western Union office that the hurricane which swept up the Missouri river cost the lives of seven persons in South Omaha. The authenticity of the report could not be tested, nor could the truth of rumors that the cyclone had devastated property in Des Moines, Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Mo., and other cities in that section.

Train dispatchers in local offices sat helpless hearing reports of washouts and derailments and not being able to confirm them.

From Kansas City came the story that the hurricane which had raged there all day, gained in fury as darkness came on. Torrents of rain and hail descended, it was reported, and electrical disturbances played havoc with local telegraph and telephone systems.

Rumors of tornadoes in Kansas and Nebraska are current in Kansas City. Various reports of damage to buildings, livestock and other property are in circulation. At the Union Pacific offices in the Missouri city it was said that the town of Yutan, Neb., had been in the path of the cyclone; that most of the buildings had been torn down and that those remaining were being destroyed rapidly by fire. Five persons were killed and many were injured, according to the reports.

The toll of dead in the storm that swept twenty states of the west and middle west Friday probably will reach 100. Six hundred were injured and a property loss aggregating $5,000,000 done.

Partially restored communication from towns in the south brought reports of terrible destruction by tornadoes. The wire damage has been so great that it probably will be several days before the exact number of dead is known.

JERSEY STIRRED BY QUADRUPLE TRAGEDY

Four Persons Slain and Their Bodies Burned.

Williamstown, N. J., March 24.—In the ruins of Leo Wharton's home on the new Brooklyn road, a mile and a half from here, the charred bodies of four persons were found last night. The house was burned after the victims had been shot.

The dead are: Leo Wharton, forty years old; his wife, Mary, thirty-two; their five-year-old daughter Lillian, and John Kenthill, foreman on a neighboring farm.

A gunshot wound in the left breast of Kenthill leads the police to believe that he met death before flames swept the Wharton homestead. His body was found lying on the floor of a shed leading to the kitchen. There was a jagged hole through his shirt, which was soaked with blood.

The body of Wharton was in the cellar, badly burned, but the trunk showed bullet holes.

Among the many rumors afloat is that Kenthill accompanied Mrs. Wharton to a moving picture show in Williamstown on Saturday night, returning home late. It is said that Kenthill, who was a bachelor, was a frequent visitor at the Wharton home.

The police theory is that Wharton and Kenthill engaged in a duel in the cellar and the man who won then fired the house after he had murdered the wife and child, so as to hide the crime, and then burned himself to death as a penalty for his deed.

Once Was Enough For Them.

London, March 24.—The suffragette leaders did not venture to hold a meeting in Hyde Park yesterday, where they had received rough treatment on previous Sundays. They were very wise in this respect, for there was a big crowd awaiting them and it seemed bent on taking more violent measures than had hitherto been taken.

The Vermont maple sugar season is a failure.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE TARIFF

Chief Executive Giving Subject Deep Study.

SOME STRONG SUGGESTIONS

With a View of Communicating His Views to the Leaders Upon Whom Will Devolve Duty of Presenting and Passing Revision Program, Mr. Wilson Is Going Deeply Into the Whole Subject Matter of the Tariff.

Washington, March 24.—The tariff is being given deep study by President Wilson with a view of communicating his views on the subject to the leaders upon whom will devolve the duty of presenting and passing the revision program through the two houses at the special session of congress that will begin on April 7. It is the general understanding that the president will in the main uphold those Democrats who are urging a moderate revision of the tariff as opposed to those who advocate sharp cuts in the rates in every schedule of the law and ample amplification of the free list. To date the president in speeches has discussed the tariff in very general terms.

It is understood that a copy of the tentative draft of the tariff bill prepared by Chairman Underwood and his associates will be placed in the hands of the president this week.

It has become known within the past few days that President Wilson will in all probability make some strong suggestions relative to the agricultural schedules. This is the schedule that provoked a lively row in the committee on ways and means.

The income tax feature of the new tariff law is proving troublesome in committee. The lines of division on this proposal are clearly marked. One group in the committee is advocating a graduated tax that will hit big incomes hard. Another group insists on a flat rate for all incomes. Those who argue that the burden should be laid heavily on large incomes want to levy a rate of one-half of 1 per cent on incomes of less than $5,000 a year, running up to 4 or 5 percent on incomes of $100,000 and increasing the scale of rates on incomes beyond the last named figure. Some want to fix the minimum income to be taxed at $1,000; others urged that the minimum be fixed at $3,000 to $4,000.

The exact form of the income tax will not be decided until the committee has received from experts an estimate as to the amount of revenue that would be yielded by the tariff bill completed in committee last week.

HEAVY STORMS PREDICTED

Marked Fluctuations in Temperature Also in Order This Week.

Washington, March 24.—The weather bureau's weekly bulletin says that the distribution of barometric pressure over the northern hemisphere is such as to indicate a continuance of abnormal storm activity and marked fluctuations in temperature in the United States during the week. A storm central Sunday over the Rocky mountain region will move rapidly northeast, accompanied by shifting gales; it will be preceded by rains and much warmer at the beginning of the week in the eastern and southern states and be attended by snow in the northwestern states and along the northern borders. It will be followed by decidedly colder Monday and Tuesday over the middle west and the southwest, and Tuesday and Wednesday generally east of the Mississippi river.

Kills Relative at Dance.

Bloomington, Ind., March 24.—During the progress of a country dance at the home of Otis May at Sanders, twelve miles south of here, at an early hour Sunday morning, Virgil Young, thirty years old, was shot by his brother-in-law, Green Patton, thirty-five years old, and died last night at the hospital in this city. The murderer disappeared immediately after the shooting. According to information given the officers, the killing of Young was without provocation. Patton was an unbidden guest and was intoxicated.

Masons of High Degree Meet.

Indianapolis, March 24.—The forty-eighth annual convocation and reunion of the Ancient Accepted Rite and the ceremonial of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine in Indianapolis this week promises to be the most pretentious affair of its kind ever held here. During the week degrees from the fourth to the thirty-second will be conferred.

Boy Touches Match to Cartridge.

Bloomington, Ind., March 24.—As the result of an accident while playing with a gun cartridge, John Deckard, four years old, of Smithville, lost both of his eyes and is at the point of death. After the little fellow had removed the bullet from a shell he struck a match to it.

Their Last Hope Gone.

Washington, March 24.—Attorneys for Claude Allen, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Richmond, Va., next Friday, were unsuccessful in their efforts to secure a writ of error from the supreme court.

CHARLES W. DABNEY

Cincinnati Scientist Who Is to Head Weather Bureau.

Washington, March 24.—Professor Charles W. Dabney of the University of Cincinnati has been selected by President Wilson and Secretary of Agriculture Houston to succeed W. L. Moore as chief of the weather bureau. Moore's resignation was accepted by the president Saturday. Dr. Dabney is a scientist of established reputation.

OLD FEUD RESULT OF TRAGEDY AT WINSLOW

Alex Amos Slain By His Brother-In-Law.

Petersburg, Ind., March 24.—Charles Blacketer, a coal miner and well connected, shot and instantly killed Alex Amos, fifty years old, of Winslow, this county, in Lee's livery barn. Blacketer fired four shots, three taking effect. Two penetrated Amos's heart. Amos is said to have threatened Blacketer with a knife in the altercation which preceded the shooting. Amos was a brother-in-law of his assailant.

The men had been at outs for some time, it is said, and when they met at the livery stable the bad feeling resulted in an altercation. Amos is said to have forced Blacketer into a corner, shouting, "I will fix you right here." In his hand he had an open knife, it is said.

As Amos advanced Blacketer is said to have drawn a 32-caliber revolver and begun shooting. Amos fell, dying instantly.

Sheriff Marion Nance, who was standing across the street, heard the shooting and rushed over in time to arrest Blacketer before he could attempt to escape. He found an open knife lying beside the body of Amos.

Nance had been called to Winslow with a warrant for the arrest of Amos, who was charged with assaulting Dr. David Deeter, a prominent citizen of that place, a few days before. The sheriff was looking for Amos when the shooting occurred.

Blacketer showed no excitement after his arrest. He asserted that Amos had started the trouble and that he was forced to shoot to protect his own life.

Ellis Bibbs, twenty-two years old and married, was found shot to death early Sunday morning in the rear of a warehouse in this city, and there is little doubt that the young man was murdered. Earl Spaulding, nineteen years old, is under arrest on suspicion of having knowledge of the crime.

BOMB CREATES A SENSATION

Tenants of a New York Flat Get the Scare of Their Lives.

New York, March 24.—A bomb went off in the hallway on the second floor near a door leading to the bedroom of Giovanni Tusa, who has a bakery in the basement at the northwest corner of Stanton and Forsyth streets.

Tusa and his wife and child were thrown from their bed. A hole five feet square was ripped out of the floor and the plaster was shaken from the walls in nearly all the flats. The second floor hallway was so badly wrecked that the frightened tenants were forced to use the fire escapes to reach the street. Tony Volvo, fifty-two years old, was found unconscious on the third floor.

Nearly Every Bone Broken.

Thorntown, Ind., March 24.—William Moliere, eighty-eight years old, was struck and instantly killed by a Big Four passenger train. The body was thrown about fifty feet, landing under a box car on a siding, where it was found by a section hand. Nearly every bone in the man's body was broken. Mr. Moliere was well known in Boone county, where he held extensive real estate interests.

Capital Punishment Abolished.

Olympia, Wash., March 24.—Governor Lister has signed the bill which abolishes capital punishment in the state of Washington. The new law goes into effect on June 14.

Damning the Editor.

Unless we write an able editorial very promptly about anything that happens, we are pretty sure to receive two or three letters from earnest correspondents suggesting that probably we've been bought off by the forces of evil.—Ohio State Journal.

Not only that, but if you fail to conduct your paper exactly according to the whims of some half-baked thinker, who never would be full-grown even if he lived to be a Methuselah, you are liable to be denounced in public as the tool of these same forces of evil.

All this is to be expected so long as one lives in a world where so many people do their thinking with their livers instead of their brains.

At the same time there is no reason why one should permit this to disturb his complacency.—Marion Chronicle.

And what is true of newspapers in cities like those above, is true also in cities of lesser importance, where the editor has a score or more of things to do every day, and very often has little or no time to give important matters the study and consideration necessary before he can write about them with any degree of clearness or intelligence. With the small office and the small newspaper, only a certain amount of work can be handled and it is out of the question to conduct the paper as if it were a metropolitan sheet. It is therefore the business of a newspaper man to move and act in accordance with his means and the field in which he operates, and then let the croaker and the kickers kick. "Them's our sentiments."—Shelbyville News.

And did you never notice that most frequently the fellow who insists on the editorial lambasting of men or measures, if he doesn't hide his identity in an anonymous communication, is an individual who resides in a house of glass, and would be the first to plead for mercy when about to be held up to the public gaze for his own wrong doing?—Columbus Republican.

And another thought, too: The fellow who always wants the newspaper to do it hasn't the nerve to do it himself. It's a very agreeable occupation to give an advise, but not so pleasant to execute it.

Keep Your House Open.

The cyclone season of 1913 has opened with unusual violence. So far from being exaggerations, the first reports of fatalities due to the cyclonic storms in the South and Southwest prove to have been underestimates. The death list now exceeds 100, and in all probability there were some victims of storms covering such a wide area, and one thinly settled in many places, of whom we shall never hear.

Telling people how to meet a cyclone is a thankless task and as fruitless as thankless. People will continue meeting cyclones, or trying to run away from them, in their own ways. The rush for the cellar, when there is one, seems to be enough of an instinct to command our respect. Dwellers in houses without cellars, which are a multitude for number, should, however, make such advance study of the nature and movement of these disastrous storms as is possible and aim at having something like a comprehensive plan of action decided upon in advance. To aid them, science has lately made, or has seemed to make, one important addition to the sum of our knowledge of cyclones.

Thinking people, with or without a personal experience, must have doubted the wisdom of closing all the doors and windows of a house when a cyclone is seen approaching. Tightly closed houses are but toy houses when standing directly in the path of a twister. And now science has told us why. The funnel-shaped cloud, sucking up all the air it comes in contact with, will, when it envelopes such a house, create a complete vacuum around it. Then, the air inside of the closed house seeking an outlet, will burst all of its walls, whether or not the house is set strongly enough on its foundations to resist the impact of the wind. The moral is; don't close your houses against a cyclone. The theory is reasonable, but it is to be expected that this season, as in all past ones, the impulse to shut out the approaching danger can not be overcome.

The Muncie Press, the best edited newspaper in Indiana, makes reference, editorially, to the announcement of the discontinuance of the Rushville Semi-weekly Republican, commenting on the part Granville Cowing, for ten years its editor and now a resident of Muncie, had in the making of the newspaper, and adds the following: "Jacob Feudner, the present owner of the Republican, which is one of the most prosperous and interesting daily publications of the state, has been connected with the Republican for thirty years."

EASTER SERMONS
AT ALL CHURCHES

People Turned Away from Entertainment at Main Street Christian Church Last Night.

LITTLE FOLKS GIVE PROGRAM

The spirit of the Eastertide pervaded all of the church services in Rushville yesterday, even though many people were kept away from the house of worship by the almost steady downpour of rain. Special sermons were preached at each church commemorating the day Christ arose from the grave. Special programs of Easter music was rendered at every church. The annual Knights Templar service was held at the Christian church in the morning. The Easter entertainment given by the intermediate classes and the juniors at the Main Street Christian church last night attracted the largest crowd the immense auditorium ever held. It was estimated there were twelve hundred people inside the building, and many more were turned away and compelled to return home.

The program bespoke the Easter season. The solo by Graham Pugh, not yet three years of age and son of Jess Pugh, the lyceum entertainer, was easily the most popular number. Although a child, he sang with the precision and tone of a grownup and revealed a voice of unusual quality.

Editorialettes

A weather man who will arouse the hopes of the Easter paraders as our own weather man did, and then dash them to the ground with as little concern as you or I light a stogie, is deserving of no pity.

Lambasting is not the proper term, we should say. He ought to be—but we hate to say it. You do it.

But it's a safe wager that the percentage of happiness Sunday was greater than that of gloom. Because, as you must know, the Easter toggers were far less than the non-toggers. Take your own experience, for instance. You didn't have anything but a necktie to wear, anyway, and what kind of a parade could you have with that?

And then, too, there are always a lot of people like the fellow who says he likes chicken better than turkey on Christmas. Have the Easter togs, don't you know, but not goin' to wear them on Easter. It's green, down-right green.

If there should happen to be anything here that you, kind reader, don't understand, we will try and arrange it with the boss to have the Colyum printed on perforated paper so you can see through it.

Nothing to Do.

(Andersonville Herald.)
Our notion of nothing to build in Mexico just now would be an unfortified peace palace.

"Incubators May Be Made in Columbus," says the Columbus Republican. To keep chickens in, if that's not an improper remark.

The Newcastle Courier thinks one train a day on the L. E. & W. is bad enough without putting on another.

For the information of our twenty-three readers we have interpreted the new game laws to mean that one does not have to have a hunting license to dig fishing worms.

A long sermon is always excusable on Easter Sunday because it takes some time for the missus to size up the spring millinery.

Something to Worry About.

Pres. Wilson returned a gold-mounted razor strop which was sent him as a gift.

No, Clarabelle, it does not always follow that a girl who chases around with a man who has money to burn is playing with fire.

But maybe next Easter will be a nice day.

Well, (business of stretching) here's hoping anyway.

What Our Neighbors
Are Talking About

Disconcerting.

(Connersville News.)

It would be interesting to know if "Bill" Cullop, Finly Gray and other Indiana statesmen are reading the Washington news closely these days. We all remember how they denounced civil service and especially Taft and Roosevelt for putting an army of fourth-class postmasters under civil service. And now their very own Postmaster General, Mr. Burleson says not only that Taft did not go far enough but that before he is done he will put every class of postmasters under the classified service. And the funny thing about it is that these patriots, according to the rules of the political game, must swallow their own words and say Burleson's plan is the right thing and agrees with their own sentiments exactly.

Mischa Elman, the Emperor of violin, who will play for the first time in Indianapolis on Monday evening, March 24, in the Fourth Subscribed Concert of Ona B. Talbot series at the Murat theater, will present one of the most interesting programs in violin literature. Musicians and public coincide in their estimation of Mischa Elman, who has not only gone leagues further in a musical way, of any violinist of his years, but who has passed the achievements of violin masters of earlier days who were held as models until this young Russian appeared to create one for comparative use. On both sides of the Ocean it is Elman who has made this place in the world of music by his great genius and magnetic personality which is the secret that hold an audience by his exceptional charm.

A famous psychologist recently asserted that personality was as essential a factor in the success of a musical artist as the mastery of the art itself. Patrons of music who have heard that distinguished master of the violin confirm this verdict. Many of his hearers have not analyzed this state of affairs, but if they were asked what it was in his playing that particularly impressed them they would answer that his magnetic vitality was one of the elements.

The truth of his contention is borne out in the audiences that turn out to listen to the music this Russian genius draws from his instrument. And on this first visit, Elman will give another practical demonstration of his popularity when he plays. Already the public interest aroused in this musician's coming is sufficient to forecast a large and select gathering.

Absent from this country all last season, Elman returns a greater artist than ever. He returns with all his old-time emotional fire, his perfect musical taste and the ability to reach the hearts of his hearers. Elman's art—which is steadily growing mellow—is now that are possessed only by a genius.

Orders for seats may be mailed now to Ona B. Talbot.

CHAPTER XI.

Alike in Essentials.

"Mr. Gryce, I am either a fool or the luckiest fellow going. You must decide which."

A grunt from the region of the library table, then the sarcastic remark:

"I'm just in the mood to settle that question. This last failure to my account ought to make me an excellent judge of another's folly. I've meddled with the old business for the last time, Sweetwater. You'll have to go it alone from now on. But what's the matter with you? Speak out, my boy. Something new in the wind?"

"No, Mr. Gryce; nothing new. You're not satisfied with the coroner's verdict in the Challoner case?"

"No. I'm satisfied with nothing that leaves all ends dangling. Suicide was not proved. There was no blood-stain on that cutter-point."

"Nor any evidence that it had ever been there."

"No. I'm not proud of the chain which lacks a link where it should be strongest."

"That chain we must throw away."

"And forge another?"

Sweetwater approached and sat down.

"Yes; I believe we can do it; yet I have only one indisputable fact for a starter. Mr. Gryce, I don't trust Brotherson. Though he should tell a story ten times more plausible than the one with which he has satisfied the coroner's jury, I would still listen to him with more misgiving than confidence. Perhaps it is simply a deeply rooted antipathy on my part, or the rage one feels at finding he has placed his finger on the wrong man. Again it may be—"

"What, Sweetwater?"

"A well-founded distrust. Mr. Gryce, I'm going to ask you a question."

"Ask away. Ask fifty if you want to."

"Did you ever hear of a case before, that in some of its details was similar to this?"

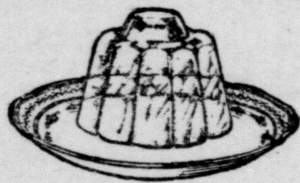

"No, it stands alone. That's why it is so puzzling."

"You forget. The wealth, beauty and social consequence of the present victim has blinded you to the strong resemblance which her case bears to one you know, in which the sufferer had none of the worldly advantages of Miss Challoner. I allude to—"

"Wait! The washerwoman in Hicks street!"

"The same. Mr. Gryce, there's a startling similarity in the two cases if you study the essential features only. Startling, I assure you."

"Yes, you are right there. But what if there is? We were no more successful in solving that case than we have been in solving this. Yet you look and act like a hound which has struck a hot scent."

The young man smoothed his features with an embarrassed laugh.

"I shall never learn," said he, "not to give tongue till the hunt is fairly started. If you will excuse me, we'll first make sure of the similarity I have mentioned. Then I'll explain myself. I have some notes here, made at the time it was decided to drop the Hicks street case as a wholly inexplicable one. Shall I read them?"

"Fire away, my boy, though I hardly see your purpose or what real bearing the affair in Hicks street has upon the Clermont one. A poor washerwoman and the wealthy Miss Challoner! True, they were not unlike in their end."

"The connection will come later," smiled the young detective, with that strange softening of his features which made one at times forget his extreme plainness.

And he read:

"On the afternoon of December 4, 1910, the strong and persistent screaming of a young child in one of the rooms of a rear tenement in Hicks street, Brooklyn, drew the attention of some of the inmates and led them, after several ineffectual efforts to gain an entrance, to the breaking in of a door which had been fastened on the inside by an old-fashioned door button."

"The tenant, whom all knew for an honest, hard-working woman, had not infrequently fastened her door in this manner, in order to safeguard her child who was abnormally active and had a way of rattling the door open when it was not thus secured. But she had never refused to open before, and the child's cries were pitiful."

"This was no longer a matter of wonder, when, the door having been wrenched from its hinges, they all rushed in. Across a tub of steaming clothes lifted upon a bench in the open window, they saw the body of this good woman, lying inert and seemingly dead; the frightened child tugging at her skirts. She was of a robust make, fleshy and fair, and had always been considered a model of health and energy, but at the sight of her helpless figure, thus stricken while at work, the one cry was 'A stroke!' till she had been lifted off and laid upon the floor. Then some discoloration in the water at the bottom of the tub led to a closer examination of her body, and the discovery of a bullet-hole in her breast directly over the heart."

"As she had been standing with face towards the window, all crowded that way to see where the shot had come from. As they were on the fourth story it could not have come from the court upon which the room looked. It could only have come from the front tenement, towering up before them some twenty feet away. A single window of the innumerable ones confronting them stood open, and this was the one directly opposite."

"Nobody was to be seen there or in the room beyond, but during the excitement, one man ran off to call the police and another to hunt up the janitor and ask who occupied this room."

"His reply threw them all into confusion. The tenant of that room was the best, the quietest and most respectable man in either building."

"Then he must be simply careless and the shot an accidental one. A rush was made for the stairs and soon the whole building was in an uproar. But when this especial room was reached, it was found locked and on the door a paper pinned up, on which these words were written: 'Gone to New York. Will be back at 6:30! Words that recalled a circumstance to the janitor. He had seen the gentleman go out an hour before. This terminated all inquiry in this direction, though some few of the excited throng were for battering down this door just as they had the other one. But they were overruled by the janitor, who saw no use in such wholesale destruction, and presently the arrival of the police restored order and limited the inquiry to the rear building, where it undoubtedly belonged.'

"Mr. Gryce," (here Sweetwater laid by his notes that he might address the old gentleman more directly), "I was with the boys when they made their first official investigation. This is why you can rely upon the facts as here given. I followed the investigation closely and missed nothing which could in any way throw light on the case. It was a mysterious one from the first, and lost nothing by further inquiry into the details."

"The first fact to startle us as we made our way up through the crowd which blocked halls and staircases was this: A doctor had been found and, though he had been forbidden to make more than a cursory examination of the body till the coroner came, he had not hesitated to declare after his first look, that the wound had not been made by a bullet but by some sharp and slender weapon thrust home by a powerful hand. (You mark that, Mr. Gryce.) As this seemed impossible in face of the fact that the door had been found buttoned on the inside, we did not give much credit to his opinion and began our work under the obvious theory of an accidental discharge of some gun from one of the windows across the court. But the doctor was nearer right than we supposed. When the coroner came to look into the matter, he discovered that the wound was not only too small to have been made by the ordinary bullet, but that there was no bullet to be found in the woman's body or anywhere else. Her heart had been reached by a thrust and not by a shot from a gun. Mr. Gryce, have you not heard a startling repetition of this report in a case nearer at hand?"

"Up three flights from the court, with no communication with the adjoining rooms save through a door guarded on both sides by heavy pieces of furniture no one person could handle, the hall door buttoned on the inside, and the fire escape some fifteen feet to the left, this room of death appeared to be as removed from the approach of a murderous outsider as the

CHEERFUL NEWS

For Feeble Old People.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectually than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

A grand niece of Alexander Hamilton over eighty years of age once remarked: "Vinol is a god-send to old people. Thanks to Vinol I have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, feel active and well. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I have ever used."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble, old people, and create strength we will return your money. F. B. Johnson and Company, druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

spot in the writing-room of the Clermont where Miss Challoner fell.

"Otherwise, the place presented the greatest contrast possible to that scene of splendor and comfort. I had not entered the Clermont at that time, and no such comparison could have struck my mind. But I have thought of it since, and you, with your experience, will not find it difficult to picture the room where this poor woman lived and worked. Bare walls, with just a newspaper illustration pinned up here and there, a bed—tragically occupied at this moment—a kitchen stove on which a boiler, half-filled with steaming clothes still bubbled and foamed—an old bureau—a large pine wardrobe against an inner door which we later found to have been locked for months, and the key lost—some chairs—and most pronounced of all, because of its position directly before the window, a pine bench supporting a wash-tub of the old sort."

"As it was here the woman fell, this tub naturally received the closest examination. A board projected from its further side, whither it had evidently been pushed by the weight of her falling body; and from its top hung a wet cloth, marking with its lugubrious drip on the boards beneath the first heavy moments of silence which is the natural accompaniment of so serious a survey. On the floor to the right lay a half-used cake of soap just as it had slipped from her hand. The window was closed, for the temperature was at the freezing point, but it had been found up, and it was put up now to show the height at which it had then stood. As we all took our look at the house wall opposite, a sound of shouting came up from below. A dozen children were sliding on barrel staves down a slope of heaped-up snow. They had been engaged in this sport all the afternoon and were our witnesses later that no one had made a hazardous escape by means of the ladder of the fire escape, running, as I have said, at an almost unattainable distance towards the left."

"And that is as far as we ever got. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death by means of a stab from some unknown weapon in the hand of a person also unknown, but no weapon was ever found, nor was it ever settled how the attack could have been made or the murderer escape under the conditions described. The woman was poor, her friends few, and the case seemingly inexplicable. So after creating some excitement by its peculiarities, it fell of its own weight. But I remembered it, and in many a spare hour have tried to see my way through the no-thoroughfare it presented. But quite in vain. Today, the road is as blind as ever, but—" here Sweetwater's face sharpened and his eyes burned as he leaned closer and closer to the older detective—"but this second case, so unlike the first in non-essentials but so exactly like it in just those points which make the mystery, has dropped a thread from its tangled skein into my hand, which may yet lead us to the heart of both. Can you guess—have you guessed—what this thread is? But how could you without the one clue I have not given you? Mr. Gryce, the tenement where this occurred is the same I visited the other night in search of Mr. Brotherson. And the man characterized at that time by the janitor as the best, the quietest and most respectable tenant in the whole building, and the one you remember whose window opened directly opposite the spot where this woman lay dead, was Mr. Dunn himself, or, in other words, our late redoubtable witness, Mr. Orlando Brotherson."

FRANCO-GERMAN WAR PREDICTED

Teutons Fear Revenge of France.

PAPER GIVES GRIM WARNING

Asserts Two Nations Must Clash When European Trouble Occurs—Kaiser's Subjects Hoarding Millions—French Writer Points to Great Injury to Art by War Scare.

The semi-official Cologne (Germany) Gazette published recently an extraordinary leading article headed "The Mischief Maker," in which it says:

"It will not be difficult for the German government to justify the necessity for the army increase if it will only speak out plainly and, without mincing words, indicate the point from which danger is threatened—as all the world realizes, from France."

The paper says nobody underestimates the gravity of the new conditions in the Balkans, but when the country is asked to make such heavy sacrifices chapter and verse must be given, and the government's finger must point to the precise spot from which there is immediate peril—that is, France. It adds:

"Never were our relations with our western neighbor so strained as today. Never has the idea of revenge been so openly flaunted. Never has it been so apparent that the French made their Russian alliance and their English friendship for the sole object of recapturing Alsace-Lorraine."

Franco-German War Certain.

"One thing is absolutely sure. Whenever the world catches fire the Germans will have to cross swords with the French. When that will happen nobody can tell."

Wholesale realizations of foreign securities, notably Canadian Pacific railway shares, are taking place in Germany in order to relieve the unprecedented famine of gold and money. The stock exchanges in Berlin and elsewhere in Prussia were closed on the centenary of the nation's rise against the Napoleonic oppressor.

To procure money investors are sacrificing their foreign holdings. This condition has been brought about primarily by the hoarding craze which has obsessed Germans since the outbreak of the war in the Balkans. It has not been lessened by the nervousness of their own government, as manifested by the gigantic army increase.

The sum now hoarded by timid Germans is estimated at between $12,500,000 and $125,000,000. Merchants and manufacturers report that it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain the payment of bills even from customers who have never before been delinquent.

Deficit In Banks.

Another aggravating factor is the deficit caused by the withdrawal of the immense balance which foreign banks formerly kept on loan in Germany.

A money famine can only be relieved from abroad. Gold must be imported. England was drawn on one week to the extent of $1,500,000, and still heavier importations are in process of arrangement with the United States.

"It is the end of French culture," is cited as the opinion of Anatole France on the new French conscription bill in an interview sent to the London Daily News by Harold Spender from Paris. M. France is further quoted as follows:

"This addition to the yearly conscription comes on us just when France is moving forward with new energy both in science and industry. It will be a grave blow to all our higher life. Medicine especially will be injured, for the medicine of the army is not the medicine of the civil state. French science requires the time of its young students, and that will be gravely curtailed. The demand for another barrack year from all young Frenchmen imposed without exemptions will draw off the best from every field of life."

Is Heavy Blow to Art.

"It comes at a moment of great industrial development. It will check that development. It comes at a moment of expansion in our arts, especially in sculpture, and it will be a heavy blow. Sculpture is not practiced on the battlefield."

Mr. Spender declares that the militarist spirit is at present supreme in France and that other voices are not likely to be heard, for the present at least. The ordinary attitude of the Frenchman, he says, is one of resignation rather than aggression, but the cry "a Berlin," which resounded through the streets of Paris before 1870, has been raised again.

GIRLS TO WAR ON AIGRETS.

Philadelphia Students Pledge Themselves to Protect Heron.

Agreeing not to wear aigrets and to do all in their power to persuade others not to wear them, the Nature Study club of the girls' high school of Philadelphia recently prepared a petition urging that the sale of plumage of the snowy heron be prohibited in Pennsylvania.

The action was taken after the reading of a paper on the sufferings of the heron at a meeting of the club. The paper was prepared by Miss Irene Elfridge, teacher of English, and read by Ruth Gerhard, an officer of the club.

WIDOW EATON IS

GRAND JURY TAKES UP CASE

All New England Is Taking a Deep Interest in the Proceedings Which Began at Plymouth Today, Having For Their Object the Sifting of the Evidence Connecting Mrs. Eaton With the Murder of the Admiral.

Boston, March 24.—In the Admiral Eaton poisoning case interest now centers in the grand jury proceedings which began at Plymouth this morning. A great many neighbors of the Eaton family in Assinippi have been summoned, as well as Mrs. Eaton's two daughters, June A. Ainsworth Keyes and Dorothy Ainsworth; her mother, Mrs. George Harrison, and various state and county officials who have worked on the case.

It is expected that an indictment will speedily follow the presentation of such evidence as District Attorney Barker sees fit to present. There is a strong likelihood that the testimony of certain witnesses will not be heard by the grand jury. The district attorney intimated as much when he said that
"it is not always necessary to present all the evidence to secure an indictment." He admitted, however, that a good many would be called upon to tell their stories of the family life of the Eatons and also to relate any conversations which Mrs. Eaton or the admiral may have had with them.

When asked about the constantly repeated rumors that insanity proceedings might be asked for by the government, Mr. Barker refused to discuss that phase of the case. He said he was willing to say that the grand jury would hear some of the evidence his men have collected; perhaps all of it and not the most important, he said. He also pointed out that the impression has gone out that Admiral Eaton was killed by white powdered arsenic administered in absolutely pure form.

"This," he declared, "is a mistaken impression. There may have been some other substance with it." Continuing, he said that a certain kind of rat poison might have been administered with the result that report of a chemical analysis would merely give white powdered arsenic as the cause of death. He said that the rat poison he referred to consisted of from 75 to 90 per cent arsenic and the remainder powdered charcoal. Given in a solution the charcoal would perhaps disappear.

Mrs. Eaton did not attend the Easter service held in the Plymouth jail, where she is now confined. She passed the day reading and writing and taking exercise. She is awaiting the outcome of the grand jury proceedings without evident alarm.

NEW KING IS ACCLAIMED

Successor of Slain Ruler of Greece Arrives at Salonica.

Salonica, March 24.—King Constantine I. of Greece, the crown prince, George, Prince Christopher, the Princess Mary, and M. Venizelos, the Greek premier, arrived here Sunday afternoon from Athens. On disembarking from the royal yacht the king was greeted with enthusiastic cheers and shouts of "Long live Constantine."
The British, German, French and Austrian warships fired salutes of twenty-one guns. The body of the late King George, who was slain here a few days ago by a madman, was exposed to public view today. It will be taken to Athens on March 26.

EUROPE'S ATTENTION
FOCUSED ON SCUTARI

Austria Sends an Ultimatum to Montenegro.

London, March 24.—Despite the startling statement issued at Vienna Saturday that Austria had sent an ultimatum to Montenegro in regard to the bombardment of the Christian quarters of Scutari, the forcible conversion of Albanian Roman Catholics and the murder of a Catholic friar named Palitch, it is believed in certain circles that Austria's attitude is less violent than has been reported.
The anxiety over Scutari, however, is great and news of its fall at any hour would surprise nobody. The position of the inhabitants is described as desperate, owing to the scarcity of food.
An Austrian steamship has been ordered to hasten to a port near Scutari with a cargo of food, clothing and tents for the inhabitants.

A dispatch from Cetinje says the Montenegrin government admitted that it had received the Austrian note.
The official journal explains that Father Palitch and fifty-five peasants were arrested for inciting the Albanians against the Montenegrins. They were being taken to Ipek, when Friar Palitch tried to escape. The military guard after calling on him three times to stop, fired and killed the priest and two of the peasants. The government has opened an inquiry into the matter.

Dispatches from Vienna say that Austria's acquiescence in Russia's proposal that Djakova be incorporated as part of Serbia under certain stipulations, is confirmed and that it has caused an outburst of anger in the anti-Balkan press, but that elsewhere it is regarded as making for

If You are Going to Buy a Buggy This Spring

take the same interest in the business that you would if you were buying a horse.
Examine the buggy you buy. Look it over for blemishes. Try it out in a way to find out what you can reasonably expect of it in the way of service. If you were buying a horse from one of your neighbors you would examine him to see if he was sound and what kind of service he had given the man that owned him.
That is what we want you to do when you buy a buggy. Ask your neighbor what kind of service he has had out of the buggy he bought of us and you will find him a satisfied man as far as that transaction is concerned. The next thing to do is to come to our sample room and see if we have a buggy that suits your needs and if you find one that fills the bill, EXAMINE IT and find out right on the sample floor what you can expect of it in the way of service. Look it over for weak points, see if it is sound and try it out just as you would if you were buying a horse and when you are satisfied that it is right in every way and will fit your requirements, buy it and take it home, then should there be anything wrong with it in any way we will make it right. Our buggies give good road service and we want you to own one of them.

MOISTURE FIXES EARTH FOR PLOW

or another should be discarded before making germination tests.

At this season for several years past a number of satisfactory means have been described for testing the germination of a few kernels from each seed ear. Those who have neglected to take good care of their seed corn may now find "dead" ears among their supply. In such cases it is profitable to test the germination of each ear separately. Where well adapted varieties are grown that properly mature before frost, poor germination has never been found among ears selected as soon as mature and cared for properly. Those who have given their seed proper care pick out 100 representative ears and make a germination test of ten grains from each ear. If these ears germinate well it is not necessary to test the balance of the seed supply.

Before shelling the small kernels are discarded from an inch or more off the tips of the ears. Accurate field tests have proved these small kernels to be less productive than the fully developed kernels of the same ears. The thick, irregular shaped kernels are also discarded from the butts of the ears. These kernels produce satisfactorily but their size or shape prevents the corn planter from dripping them satisfactorily. It is convenient to nub the entire supply of ears before the shelling process is begun.

Many farmers who plant 20 or 40 acres of corn carefully shell their seed by hand and are profited by so doing. A few remarkably successful extensive corn growers shell hundreds of bushels by hand. Where much seed is required there is a strong temptation to run it through the corn sheller. Hand shelling is profitable for the small farmer and therefore more profitable for the extensive farmer. The sheller breaks or cracks some of the kernels and there is not the opportunity of examining kernels from different portions of each ear as in shelling by hand. After being nubbled the proper way to shell the seed ears is to shell by hand, one ear at a time, into a sieve that will let the chaff fall through and leave all the kernels from the ear in plain view for inspection. If unsatisfactory, all the kernels can be easily discarded and another ear shelled.

Under favorable field conditions 10 or 20 per cent of the kernels or young stalks are destroyed. Where extensive plantings are made with first-class seed and thinning is impracticable about five kernels should be planted for every four stalks desired. Where help is obtainable that will attend properly to the thinning, it is more profitable to plant twice as many kernels as stalks desired and thin out the weak plants as soon as they become too large and hard to be destroyed by cutworms.

Auto Taken in Indianapolis Headed This Way.

The police of Indianapolis, Cincinnati and intervening towns are looking for a black touring car which left Indianapolis between two days, and is believed to be conveying a party of boys on an extended joy ride, says the Indianapolis News. When the machine had not been returned or found Tuesday morning detectives at St. Clair's request, began an investigation.

DISCOVERY DAY IS NOT HOLIDAY

Title of Law Passed by Last Legislature is Defective in Its Title.

OPINION GIVEN BY LAWYERS

Seeks to Amend Legal Holiday Act of 1907 Which Does Not Exist.

Discovery day is not a legal holiday in Indiana, although the recent legislature sought to remedy the blunder made by the 1911 general assembly, which originally sought to include October 12 in the list of legal holidays in Indiana. Lawyers who have examined the title of House Bill 463, introduced by Keegan, at the recent session, passed by both houses and signed by the Governor, say the title is defective and will invalidate the entire bill.

The Keegan bill sought to amend Section 1 of the legal holiday act of 1907, which in turn was an amendatory act to an act of 1905. Instead the enrolled bill seeks to amend an act of 1907, which in turn is declared to have amended an act "approved March 4, 1895." There is no such act as the Keegan bill seeks to describe.

The history of the Discovery day bill at the recent session is interesting, particularly since the finding of the invalidating defect in the act. The bill was introduced in the house and went to the committee on Judiciary B. Chairman Weisman, when the bill was considered, pointed out the fact that it would be merely putting another holiday in the list in which the saloons of the state are barred by law from selling liquor. The other members of the committee agreed that it "would work a hardship" and it was agreed to report the bill for indefinite postponement.

Members of the Knights of Columbus, which society was strongly in favor of the bill, heard of the plans to kill the bill and immediately pointed out to the house committee members that the Traylor bill, introduced in the senate at the request of Senator Stephen B. Fleming, the Ft. Wayne brewer, and seeking to allow saloons to remain open on several holidays, would relieve the saloon keepers of the state from the necessity of closing their places of business during so many days in the year. They argued that the Discovery day bill, therefore, should be allowed to pass and, acting on these suggestions, the house committee reported the bill favorably and it passed the house.

Then, in the closing days of the legislature, the Traylor liquor bill was found to be devoid of an enacting clause, after it had passed both houses. Many attempts were made and plans discussed to revive the defunct Traylor bill.

The Keegan Discovery day bill meanwhile had gone on to a point where it was resting in the senate, ready for third reading. The friends of the Traylor bill, including Senator Fleming and Senator Stotsenburg, planned another coup. They decided to amend the Discovery day bill, which specifies all the legal holidays in the state, so that Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, Labor day, Discovery day and one or two other holidays would always fall on Sundays in Indiana, regardless of the real day of the week they would naturally fall on. This failed and the Keegan bill was passed unamended.

The discovery that the Keegan bill was defective was made by John G. Williams, a railroad attorney.

He said he became interested in the bill, with other railroad men, because it would have added another holiday to the list in Indiana on which railroads might not make demurrage charges. For this reason, he said, he examined the measure very carefully and noticed that the date of the act it sought to amend did not tally with the date of the act in the statute books.

Investigation by the secretary of state showed that Mr. Williams' contention was right, and it was declared that the bill was unofficially dead.

The attempt to pass a Discovery day bill in the 1911 session met with the same sort of treatment as that in 1913. After the bill had become an act it was found that it sought to amend an act of 1905, which had in turn been amended in 1907, thus invalidating the 1911 act, since it sought to amend an act that did not then exist.

MARION COUNTY CLUB CAN GET IT

But Secretary Kirk Says Dates in Southeastern Indiana Fair Circuit Are All Full.

MEETING AT NORTH VERNON

Roy Carr, superintendent of the speed department of the Rush County Fair association, will likely go to North Vernon tomorrow to represent the local association at the meeting of the Southeastern Indiana circuit. W. L. King, secretary of the association, will be unable to attend and he expected to send Mr. Carr since speed business was about the only thing that was to be discussed.

Mr. King says that he believes there will be no objection to the Marion county driving club, which is really the county fair association, entering the southeastern circuit. The only trouble would be to find a date for the new member. At present all of the dates in the circuit up to the state fair are taken by members, with the Rush county and the Johnson county fair the same week, August 26 to 29 inclusive. The Marion county organization would have to take a week with some other county, the week before the opening of the circuit or conflict with the state fair.
